

NO SOUR PUSS HERE.

One eyed cat lands home in Parkville, MO
In Fine Art Gallery.

“Finders Keepers” and it’s lucky shamrock is a fitting place for this homeless furry feline to wind up. The cat was a stray that was shot thru the right eye! And FINDER KEEPERS found her!

The cat (now blind in one eye), occasionally will wander across the street to “Nine lives” A local cat boutique , from time to time.

Fortunately for the cat, it was given to Cathy Kline and now spends her time in Cathy’s second story gallery in downtown Parkville. Stop by and visit this incredible gallery and amazing cat!

Ode to the cat with nine lives. (By G. Berg)

It was a mean fella who was awfully yella who shot the cat thru the eye. The bullet went right threw and sent the cat askew.

Many people said that cat should be dead but instead, they proclaim; “Oh my it’s the cat with one eye!”.

Thank goodness for Finders Keepers who saved the day, and sent the cat Cathy’s way. Here the cat sits upon its black throne only to occasionally wander and come to the shops across the street. “Nine lives” is where they think cats are neat, and Up the hill is fish at “Propo’s” where people dine and eat.

“Propo’s” and “Nine Lives” is about as far as that old cat will travel, because she never knows..... when one more life will unravel.
